

Veterinarians Only Please!

Will You Help?

We, the undersigned, believe that too many exotic birds suffer in the hands of undereducated guardians when kept as “pets.” Although these animals may be captive-bred, they are not truly domesticated. Very few people can realistically provide for the long-term physical or psychological needs of exotic birds, many of which, depending on the species, can live 20-70 years or longer. We further agree that the sale of birds in the large pet and supply chains will lead to an overpopulation problem ending in the euthanasia of many intelligent, innocent animals.

This petition will be used in public forums to show that there is significant agreement and concern in the veterinary community. It will be used to influence future legislation and to sway the pet trade into ending the mass production and the sale of parrots as pets.
